Chemical drums found in Stanhope lake

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The discovery of a large number of chemical barrels at the bottom of Little Hawk Lake has prompted an investigation by the Ontario Ministry of the Environment.

The 40-gallon drums were discovered by members of the Stouffville Underwater Diving Society on September 2 during a recreational dive in the Stanhope lake.

The Society's President, Dave Lumley, wrote a letter explaining the discovery and expressing his concern. The letter was sent to The Times, The Ministry of the Environment, Transport Canada and the Toronto Sun.

In the letter, Lumley said his group "encountered possibly 60, (perhaps more) 40-gallon steel drums, with various markings, such as corrosive, chemicals, Canada Packers Chemical Division, Monsanto Company St. Louis, as well as painted over areas."

Lumley described the drums as being "in various stages of deterioration, from completely intact to com-

Downtown improvements begin soon

Downtown Minden will be getting a face lift this fall and as an extra bonus there should be improvements to the traffic situation at the two intersections on Main Street.

Plans for the long-awaited upgrading of the downtown core were completed last month and tenders are now being sought for the $150,000 project.

The project, which applies to the section of Main Street between Newcastle and South Water Streets, addresses traffic flow, lighting, laneways signage and parking. It will also involve the installation of benches, gardens and waste containers and further docking facilities.

Funding for the project is coming from the Minden BIA and from a provincial PRIDE grant. The $760,000 provincial grant was announced more than a year ago, but the project could not begin until the draft plans were completed.

BIA chairman Lewis Stevens said the plans, drawn up by the Peterborough firm of Mewett McGuire and Basterfield, were in hand about three weeks ago. At that time, all the downtown business owners were invited to view the plans make comments on them.

While several business owners commented on the plans, there were no outright objections, Stevens said. Based on that feedback, there were few changes to the draft plans and the tendering process began last week.

To improve the sorry traffic situation at the awkward corner in front of the Rockcliffe Hotel, the sidewalks in front of the bank and Jerry's Barbershop will be expanded outwards into the street. This will eliminate the ongoing problem of cars parking on that bend and will also encourage the traffic to slow down.

A well-marked crosswalk will be set in place at that corner, easing the safety situation for pedestrians, said Stevens. The plans also call for some sort of banner to be strung across the street at that point to clearly identify the downtown core. The banner could be replaced at times with another to promote activities in the town.

Parents still concerned about school's air

While parents are still expressing concerns about the air quality at the Archie Stouffer Elementary School Annex (the former IGA store) they seem generally pleased with the corrective measure taken so far by the Haliburton County Board of Education.

Director of Education, Stuart Baker, met with a small group of parents and members of the local Home and School Association, Wednesday night to discuss their concerns.

Questions about the air quality were raised shortly after the new school was opened in September 1988. The air in the converted grocery store was stuffy.

The ventilation system in the building seemed to be inadequate for the number of people using the space and a number of classrooms lacked windows.

Reacting to the concerns, a study of the air quality was carried out by the Health Unit. This was followed an additional assessment by the Ministry of Labour. According to Baker, the results of those investigations indicated the carbon dioxide levels in the building varied between 1200 and 2200 parts per million. The Health Unit has said that these readings should be 1000 parts per million or less.

The elevated carbon dioxide levels could result in drowsiness, headaches and inattentiveness by the students. The board looked into the matter and found that two of the five classrooms in the building were not being served by the air circulation system. There was also some concern that air intake ducts were not operating properly.

Baker told the meeting that additional windows were installed in some rooms, blinds were installed on the large front windows to reduce the heat absorption and the ventilation system was extended to all areas of the building. Another test has been carried out since the changes have been made, but the results were not yet available.

The director told the group that a mechanical engineer, involved with the construction of the addition to the high school, has examined the Minden building and recommended that the air intake for the ventilation system be enlarged.

Baker suggested that using the ceiling fans and ensuring the windows are open would help improve the air quality in the rooms.

One parent, who said he had withdrawn his child from the school last year, suggested the board should err on the side of caution when dealing with this problem. He suggested if the air quality exceeds the limits set by the Health Unit, then every effort should be made to bring it up to that standard. He noted that the Ministry of Labour guidelines set a limit of 5000 parts per million of carbon dioxide in industrial workplace. He said the board should be cautious when the minimum guidelines are surpassed, particularly when children are the main occupants of the structure.

Another parent in attendance told the meeting he has a student at the annex and at Archie Stouffer. He said the student at the annex has experienced breathing problems since returning to school and he felt it was a result of the air quality in the building.

Baker said the board is concerned about the situation at the school and is attempting to create the best environment possible for the students. However, he said there was only so much the board could do, especially since the building is a leased structure. The lease expires at the end of the 1991 school year. He said additional tests will be carried out and parents will be made aware of the results and the efforts undertaken by the board to correct deficiencies.

The question of how long the building will be used as a school was also raised by the parents. The director held out a little hope the provincial government would provide funding assistance for an addition to the Archie Stouffer School in the near future. He said that a recent request for capital funding, based on a three year projection, was not approved. He also said the board's budget is stretched to the limit by reduced provincial grants and pressure from local taxpayers to cut expenditures. He said the only option open to the board would be to house the growing student population in portable classrooms. Board members, teachers and parents, seem to prefer the current situation to the location of more portable structures on the school ground.

If current increases in student population continue, it is likely more classrooms will be required next year and portables may have to be added at the annex to accommodate the students.

President of the association, Cathy Arbour, thanked the Director of Education for his presentation. She said the association would be willing to assist with the cost of renovation to improve the air quality at the annex and that the organization would be following developments at the school as improvements were made.

KRCA general-manager gets warm reception

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The decision whether or not to join the Kawartha Region Conservation Authority is now in the hands of the individual municipal council and a feasibility study may be done to help them decide.

Conservation Authority general manager Ian Macnab attended a meeting of county council on September 20 and a meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Water Management Advisory Committee on September 29, to present the proposal and field questions.

Macnab says both meetings were really good and the county council meeting was particularly positive. "I was delighted with the reception and the questions they asked were extremely good," he said in an interview last week.

The councillors have some obvious concerns about joining a new organization, said Macnab, but they had a great dialogue lasting 45 minutes. "If people aren't interested they can get rid of you quickly."

Macnab stressed to the councillors that the ball is entirely in their court and any decision to join the authority will have to come from the municipalities involved.

The water management committee posed less questions, said Macnab, because they have been advocating that Haliburton form or join a conservation authority for some time and were more familiar with the issue. He described the committee's reception as "very positive."

Although Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis resigned from chairing the water management committee this summer, he chaired the meeting which Macnab attended. Macnab says Davis asked him to give some thought to coming up with the terms of reference for a feasibility study into the effects a conservation authority will have on Haliburton County.

Macnab said he and Davis will likely meet over the course of the next month to further discuss the idea of a study.

The conservation authority won't carry out the actual study itself, said Macnab, because it's not in their mandate and that sort of study would be best completed through the county government.

If the study is carried out it will delay the application for expansion while Haliburton's municipalities make up their mind, but Macnab said the authority is in the position of being able to wait six or eight months.

The application for the expansion is being sponsored by two Victoria County townships, Somerville and Bexley, who would like to see the authority cover

Give Thanks

The family has all gone home, the leftovers are wrapped and stored in the fridge and we have a week's worth of turkey sandwiches to look forward to.

For many, Thanksgiving has become a ritual of over-cooking, over eating, and a much needed long weekend after a hectic summer.

But this would be an appropriate time for residents of the Highlands to pause and give thanks for the quality of life we enjoy.

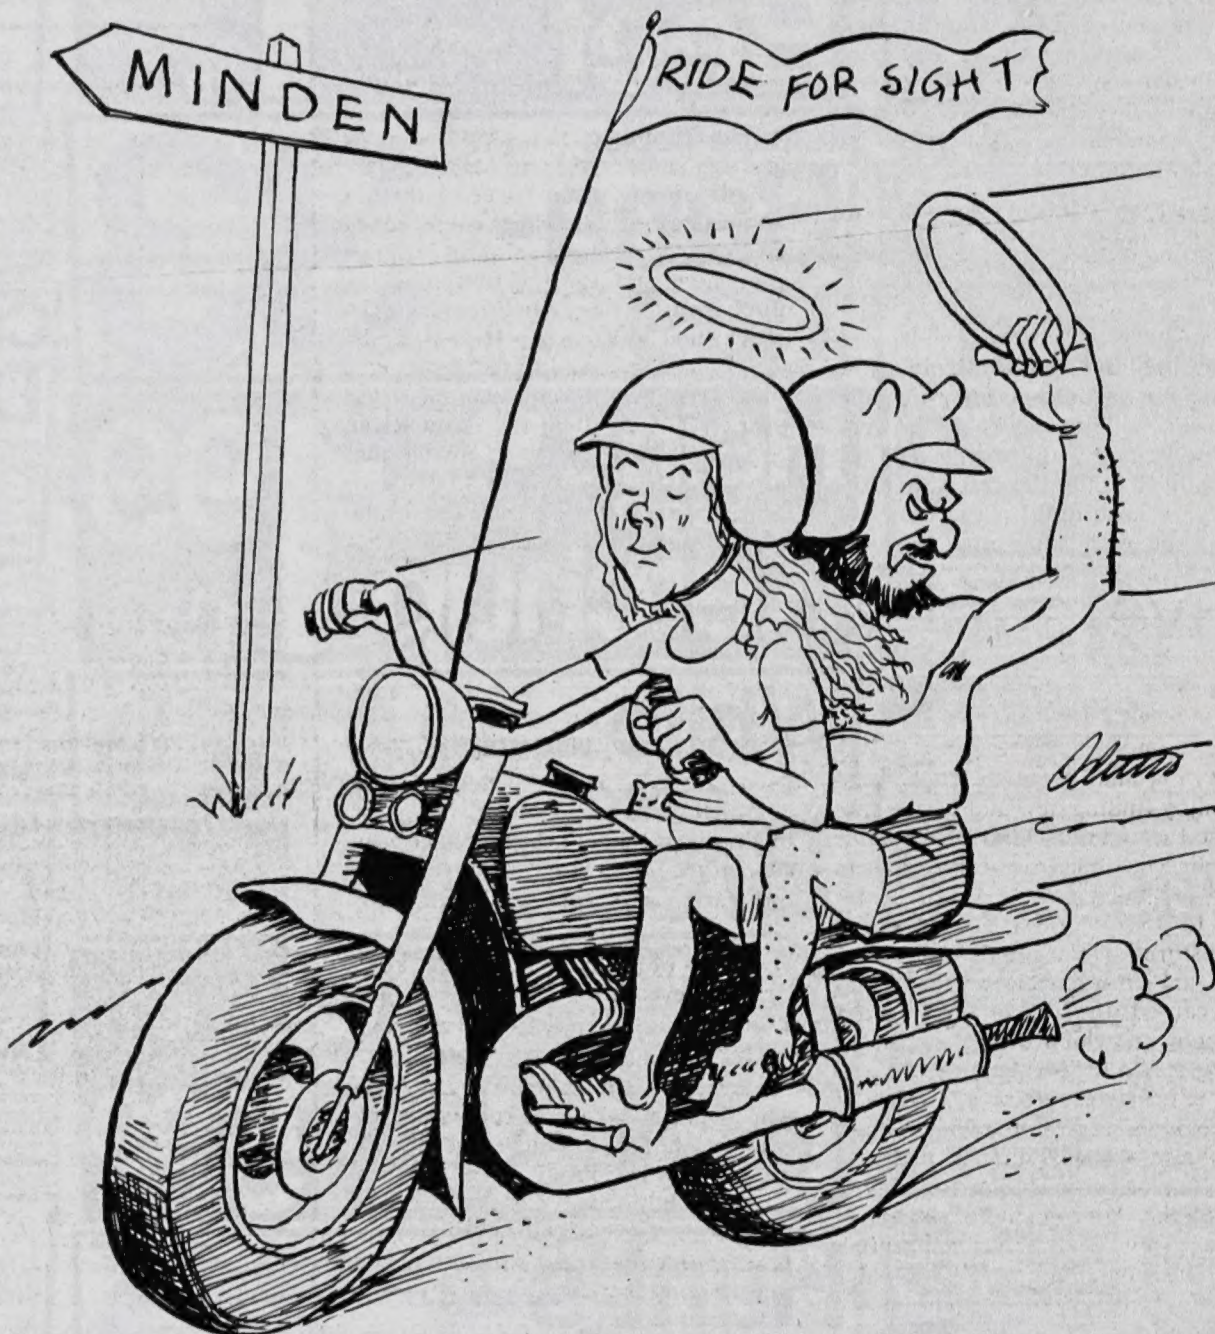

It's still possible, in our area, to walk the streets at night in relative safety.

People here know their neighbours by name and still greet strangers with a friendly nod on the street.

Day-to-day we are surrounded by some of the most beautiful scenery our province has to offer. Where else can a drive to work take you past shimmering lakes and forested hills?

Sure, we have our problems, but compared to so many in the world we are truly fortunate to be living where we are with so many benefits and a special quality of life.

It's always easier to overlook the positive aspects of living in Haliburton County, and focus on the negative but it's important to keep everything in perspective and remember what we have rather than what we lack.

Fall of '89 marks the end of an industry

Ah, September! Always a sweet 'n sour time of year with the end of holidays, the last gasp of summer, the denuding of crop fields and orchards and all that -- but the fall of '89 will go down in the tally books as a season of particular bittersweet poignancy, for this autumn marked the collapse of an entire industry. An industry by the name of Georges Simenon.

Who was he? Possibly the mightiest writing machine the world has ever spawned. He was born in Liege, Belgium in 1903, tried to become a baker for a few years, then chucked it and fled to Paris at the age of 20. There, he picked up a pen and discovered a facility that he never felt around the baking oven in Liege. In the next three years he turned out an astonishing 300 stories -- more than many aged authors manage in an entire lifetime.

black 'n white

by Arthur Black

He hadn't even hit his stride.

The words came faster and faster. So fast that soon he was churning out books under 17 different pseudonyms. Authors who can turn out one book over twelve months are considered prolific. During his best years, Simenon was plopping six completed manuscripts on his publisher's desk, year in, year out.

Sure, the world has seen high volume hacks before -- quasi-literate prose packagers like Jacqueline Susanne and Harold Robbins mumbling their vapid, soft-porn plots into dictaphones at poolside -- but Simenon's works weren't like that. He wrote well. Extremely well. The French writer Colette became his champion 'way back in the twenties. And Andre Gide, one of France's most respected modern authors, called him "Perhaps the greatest and most genuine novelist of today's French literature."

Not everyone agreed. Some critics refused to believe that anyone who wrote so fast could be turning out anything but trash. And Simenon did write fast. He told Gide that he could, if pressed, write a complete novel in three days. Once, when Hollywood movie director Alfred Hitchcock telephoned for Georges he reached Madam Simenon

Resident shares thoughts on hot issues

Editor:

It is that time of year again when I decide to share my thoughts about pertinent issues in our community.

First of all I don't think that council members should have any financial interests in the area which they reign over. Due to the fact that poor business relations could cause a negative attitude toward council or vice-versa. No examples required!

Secondly that all the events that are normally held in the fairgrounds continue - e.g. demo. derby, ice car races, tractor pull, truck pull and last of all but not least, Ride For Sight.

The Ride For Sight brings money in, not only for RP but also brings revenue for local businesses. Yes, we must accept the good with the bad. The few that spoiled it for the rest should be dealt with according to the law. The noise issue with some area residents should be tolerated. The Seniors apartments and Staunworth Court should have never been built there, of course this is only my opinion.

Third is the dump situation, cottagers can't use the dump on Sunday due to the hours, holidays included. A good practice would be to extend the dump hours and or have large industrial dump boxes at major interchanges - this would eliminate countless bags of garbage all over our nice countryside.

Still on the dump issue, I do not appreciate the raw sewage being dumped next door. It has been going on for some time now and for the first time the public swimming in Kinmount has been closed due to excessive fecal bacteria. The Plewman Creek passes through my property, the GWK property and eventually ends up at the Burnt River. Why can't this sewage be treated at a municipal treatment plant. In one issue of the paper it said that the health inspector said he could not smell anything on the hottest of days. On foggy days, warm damp days, the air reeks of urine if the breeze is in the right direction. At the top of one page in the paper we are concerned about sewers for sewage and at the bottom it's being dumped raw.

Last of all, I hope everyone had a safe and happy Thanksgiving.

Nick Fomenko,
Minden.

Divers found the drums

Editor:

The Stouffville Underwater Diving Society is a small group of scuba divers that enjoy finding new and varied sites to dive throughout Ontario. We value fresh air, unspoiled scenery and clean water very much, and make a conscious effort to preserve these. It is therefore very disturbing to encounter a situation where an irresponsible person might have caused the destruction of our environment, which brings me to the reason for writing this letter.

On Saturday, September 2, a few of our members set forth to explore a new dive site at the government docks on Little Hawk Lake in Haliburton. Before entering the water, many remarks were made as to how clear the water appeared. However, soon after entering the water our enjoyment began to wane as we encountered possibly 60, (perhaps more) 40-gallon steel drums, with various markings, such as corrosive, chemicals, Canada Packers Chemical Division, Monsanto Company St. Louis, as well as painted-over areas.

The drums were in various stages of deterioration, from completely intact to completely rusted-through. A guess might suggest that the barrels have been submerged for 15 years. Upon touching one barrel, a yellow substance seeped out.

A copy of a dangerous goods safety label retrieved from one of the drums is attached.

I (we) felt that a possible health risk to the residents and visitors to the area, who drink and bath in the water and consume the fish, should be investigated, under the possibility that this was the midnight dumping of a truckload of dangerous substances or even just the misuse of empty, but not cleaned or purged containers.

Dave Lumley, President
Stouffville Underwater
Diving Society.

Autumn reflections

He made Sinatra look like the Pope

instead. "I'm sorry" she said, "Georges is writing and I would rather not disturb him."

"Let him finish the book" replied the unflappable Hitch. "I'll hang on".

And as if writing well at the speed of light wasn't accomplishment enough, Simenon held down another full time job to which he devoted at least as much attention as literature.

Seduction. Georges Simenon was a lady's man the same way that Georges Simenon was a novelist. He made Casanova look like a saltpeter addict. He made Frank Sinatra look like Pope John the 23rd.

You think I'm exaggerating? Not a chance. Simenon once confessed that he had slept with ten thousand women during his life.

Ten thousand! Why that's half the population of Sarnia or Port Alberni! Seventeen times the number of calvarymen who galloped in the Charge of the Light Brigade! More fans than the Toronto Maple Leafs could draw if they put Racquel Welch in goal. Why that's...

Hold on a second.

Let's just work out the logistics on this. Simenon was born in 1903, which means he probably didn't start his ummm, hobby until at least the age of 15, say? That would be 1918. And one presumes he relinquished his more strenuous avocation when he formally stopped writing in 1973. Which means Simenon had a period of 55 years in which to woo and bed ten thousand women. That works out to 181.8 women per year. Think of it! That's pretty well one brand new partner every two days! Think of the boxes of chocolates, the bottles of wine, the telephone scenes, the stammered explanations and the slaps across the face. Fifty five years of that! Phew! Rest in peace, Georges.

I don't know how you lived so long, or wrote so much, but I'm pretty sure I've figured out what you died of.

Juniors manage a tie

The Junior Redmen soccer team battled back from a 2-0 half-time deficit to tie the Fenelon Falls Falcons last Wednesday.

Throughout the game, strong winds gusted from the west but they failed to hamper either team as all four goals were scored while the teams were playing into the wind.

In the first half, Haliburton came out strong pressing the play into the Falcon's half of the field but failing to take advantage of several scoring opportunities.

Fenelon opened the scoring on a pass across the front of the Redmen's goal and a well-placed shot to the opposite side.

Haliburton fought back and managed to shots on the Falcon net but both were blocked by the Fenelon net-minder.

The Falcons took control of the ball and worked it down the field, keeping the ball on the ground to avoid the wind. They were threatening to increase the lead but a save by Haliburton goalkeeper Bruce Milne and an off-side call put the Redmen back in control of the ball.

After several minutes of close play at half-field, the Falcons made a break up the side-line, managed one shot, which was blocked by Milne and then scored on the rebound to take a 2-0 lead at the half-time whistle.

Going into the second half, the Redmen played well despite the wind disadvantage and were awarded a direct penalty kick on the Falcon's net.

Dave Carr beat the Falcon's goalkeeper to put the Redmen on the scoreboard with their first goal of the game.

Carr also scored the only other goal of the game to leave the game tied at two apiece.

The second game of the afternoon saw the Senior soccer team facing one of their toughest competitors in the league, the Senior Fenelon Falls Falcon squad.

The Redmen beat the Falcons in the opening game of the season, but failed to repeat that performance last week as they came out on the losing end of a 3-2 game.

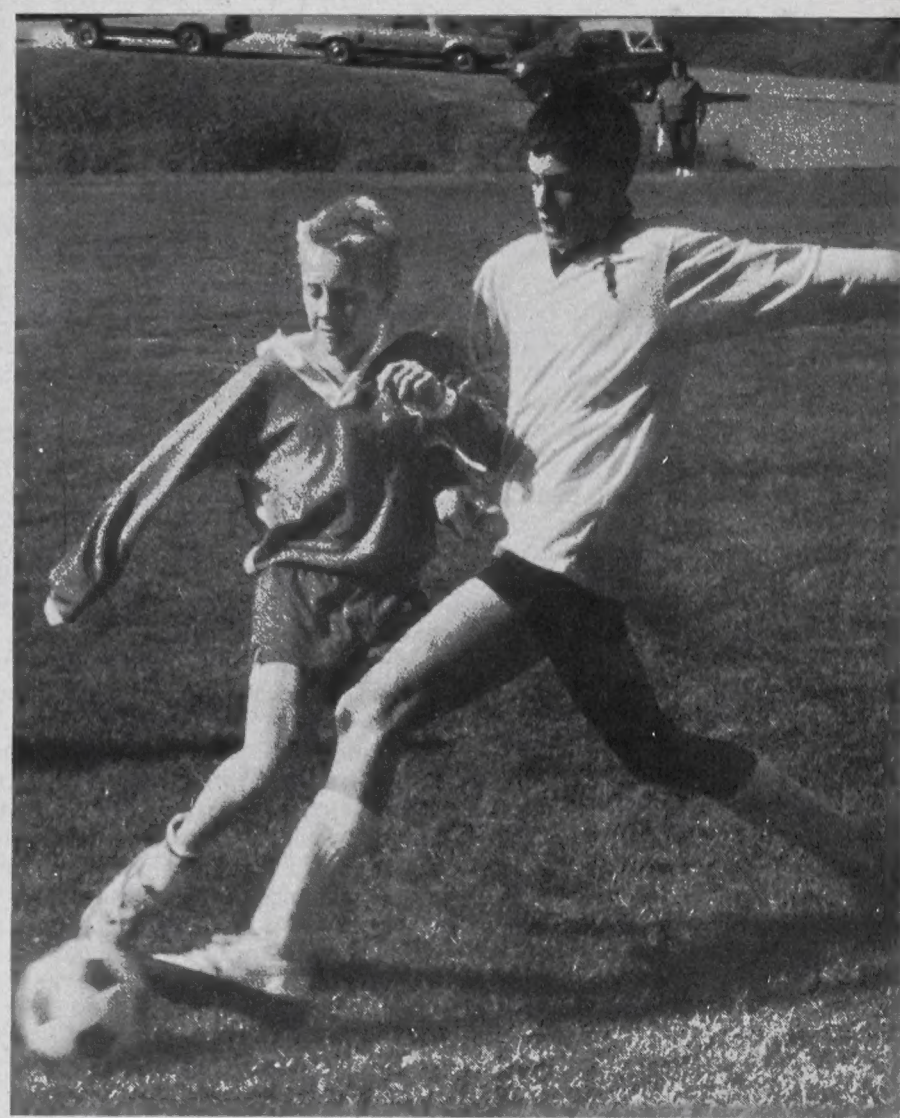

Redmen player Jan Haedicke scored Haliburton's first goal but at the half the Falcons lead by a score of 2-1.

Haedicke managed one more goal in the second half, but it wasn't enough as the Falcons matched with one of their own to end the game 3-2.

At one point Redmen player Kelly Youngdale was given a red card by the referee and ejected from the game, forcing the Redmen to play one man short.

Youngdale, Roland Greber, Darren Warburton, Jason Dennis and Chris Holliday-Rhodes all turned in outstanding performances for the Redmen.

Both teams play at home this Wednesday.

Davis wants to form a new authority

more of their territory.

Because the authority's two main watersheds, along the Gull and Burnt Rivers, both extend into Haliburton County, local townships are being presented with the chance to join.

Macnab says he presented Haliburton County Council with a variety of boundary options, all of which he can support with technical arguments when presenting the application to the province. He says he will tailor the application to meet the wishes of the municipalities.

When addressing the effect a conservation authority might have on the low water levels in Haliburton's reservoir lakes, Macnab said he made it clear that the conservation authority will not be able to restructure the management of the Trent-Severn Waterway overnight.

He did say that the conservation authority already works with the Trent-Severn officials and says he thinks there is something that can be done to alleviate Haliburton's situation.

Dysart et al Deputy-Reeve listened to Macnab's presentation to both County Council and the water management committee and says he doesn't see any benefit to Dysart's joining the authority.

Davis says Haliburton County has little in common with other authority members to the south and if the general consensus among Haliburton municipalities is in favour of joining an authority, they would be better of starting one of their own.

This option seems unlikely however, as the province is currently trying to reduce the number of authorities through amalgamation.

Lutterworth Reeve Carol Puffer said, as far as she's concerned, the jury is still out over whether or not to join the authority but she to has her doubts about what benefit the move may bring. She said there is a feeling among Haliburton councillors that local concerns would get "lost in the shuffle" of the authority.

She favours the idea of a feasibility study, and says she would readily support such a motion at county council.

Seminar stresses recovery

"Break Free, From Addiction To Recovery", will be the theme of an all-day community seminar scheduled for October 25 in Lindsay. This annual seminar is sponsored by the Victoria-Haliburton Concerns Committee for Alcohol and Drug Awareness.

This year both alcohol and drug addiction will be addressed, including an emphasis on cocaine. In order to address many of the community's concerns about the debilitating effects of addiction and the possibilities for recovery, a wide range of speakers has been invited.

Penny Lawson from Bellwood Health Services, a drug alcohol treatment centre in Toronto, will discuss the effect of alcohol and drug abuse on the family.

As well, a number of laypersons, both women and men, will share their experiences with addiction and how they were helped to break free. Among those is Lou Bruff, a poet and songwriter from Newfoundland who enterprisingly tells his story of alcohol addiction which will make listeners laugh and cry.

The seminar will take place at the Ontario Government Building, 322 Kent Street West, Lindsay beginning at 8:30 a.m. Registration is $25 for professionals, agencies, etc., while students, seniors and homemakers, etc., are asked to pay $15.

For more information, contact Lindsay Marg Fevang at 324-5030 or Jean Allen at 324-4355, or Doris Wilkinson in Haliburton at 286-1366.

In an effort to avoid a collision with a car turning off Highway 35, just south of Minden, this vehicle swerved off the road and came to rest on its roof at the bottom of a steep ditch. The vehicle which left the road was being driven by 77-year-old John Sibthorp of Minden. He suffered a minor cut after his car overturned. The car turning off the highway was driven by Aubrey Caldwell, 72, of Orillia. The mishap took place October 2. No charges have been laid.

Resident deeply concerned over death of neighbor

Editor:

I am deeply concerned about the accidental death of a neighbour this past weekend, September 16.

A native of Minden, I have always been fiercely proud of my roots, but after this accident my foundations have been badly shaken. Since we chose to have a cottage on a seasonal road we have come to terms with the fact that emergency services are severely restricted in the winter months. Never had I imagined that on a full moonlit night in mid-September, the OPP would consider it too dangerous to go out on Gull Lake to search for a missing teenager, because of a heavy mist on the water.

Early Saturday morning Mark's mother came to us and a neighbour, John Ellis to ask if we would please go out on the lake and look for her son. She had been told by the police it was unsafe to be on the water.

My husband and John and two of Mark's uncles went out shortly after 8 a.m. There was still a heavy mist and no sign of a police boat. Within the hour they had located both the canoe and the victim, at which time the police arrived. It was also my husband and John who performed CPR on Mark to no avail.

How is it that four men in two small aluminum fishing boats can venture out into a mist-covered lake that trained authorities with a fully equipped boat considered too dangerous to attempt?

It appalls me that in our so-called sophisticated society that anyone should have to rely on neighbours in a life and death situation unless it is back up aid to the professionals.

Could the death of this seventeen year old boy have been avoided if an organized search had been initiated as soon as the alarm had been sounded? No one will ever know. Would not Mark's parents have been comforted by the fact that something had been done regardless of the outcome?

Susan Reed

Reader wants to know where victim's parents were

Editor:

What is happening with our world? On the front page of your paper recently was an article about a young man who drowned in Gull Lake about four o'clock in the morning. This young man's family is obviously upset and are demanding an inquest to determine why the police took the action they did. The article indicates that the police would not go out in thick fog and the parents don't like that.

My question is - where were the parents? Why were three young people out in a canoe in thick fog at three o'clock in the morning? Although I sympathize with their agony and loss, I think it is about time people started being responsible for their own actions and those of their children instead of always blaming authorities.

To spend thousands of dollars on an inquest to find out that the police did not want to risk their lives and to show publicly that the actions of the victim contributed to his own death is a waste of our already scarce tax dollars.

Intra Town and Travel says thanks

Editor:

I would like to thank Jack Brezina and the Minden Times for the recent story they did on the opening of Intra Town and Country Travel in Minden.

As a small business investing in both a large computer system and a new retail location, it is very encouraging to have the support and understanding of a community, through our local newspaper. During the next week we will be hooking up our new Sabre system and hope to be on line by the week of October 16th.

With many thanks, and much appreciation to all who have been a continued support, and to all of those including Jack, who help make our future at Intra-Town and Country Travel a very bright one.

In June 1990, the Sisters of Saint Joseph will celebrate 100 years of service in Saint Mary's Parish in Lindsay.

In conjunction with this milestone, a reunion of all former students and teachers from the schools where the Sisters taught is scheduled for the weekend of June 2 and 3, 1990. These schools are: St. Mary's Elementary; St. Dominic's School for boys; St. Joseph's Academy for High School girls; Pope John Paul II and St. Joseph's School of Music.

Preparations are underway for a nostalgic, fun-filled weekend, but we need you, and your present name and address, (maiden name if applicable) the year(s) you attended, and any memorabilia you may have kept.

If you went to any of these schools in Lindsay, we would love to hear from you so your name can be added to the list for future mailings. We know you want to be included at the St. Mary's reunion. Please contact: Mrs. Barbara Ford, R.R. 4, Lindsay, K9V 4R4 (705) 324-4917.

Group making presentation

Editor:

I have received many calls from people concerned with the changes to the Twelve Mile Lake Cemetery. So many have chosen that site or use the area because of the beauty and peace of the trees.

For whose convenience is the proposed cutting of the pine trees? With less sophisticated equipment and no road we have in the past been able to serve the community with a perfect little cemetery.

A group will present this to the Minden Cemetery Board this Wednesday night at 7 p.m. Please call 286-1940 or 754-3617 with support or ideas.

Venus is nice but people are starving

Editor:

To a handful of scientists it must seem like a dream come true when they view the pictures of Neptune which Voyager 2 has sent back to earth. But it is of little if any interest to millions of people who would rather view a picture of an official printed on a small piece of paper (currency) which they can exchange for food for their starving bodies, or medicine for their pain and suffering, or even a shelter for those without homes.

Yahweh (our Maker) must be very angry when He sees man attempting to invade His domain. The Bible says that heaven is Yahweh's home - the earth He created for man (Psa. 115:16). Could this be one of the reasons why we are experiencing the disasters which are happening in the skies today? Wouldn't it be more admirable, more humane, if we cleaned up and brought some semblance of law and order to our diseased, crime-ridden planet before embarking on a probe of planets which were not meant for habitation? Maybe we would be wise to follow the admonition found in scripture, namely - to live a quiet life, work with our own hands, and mind our own business. (1 Thess. 4:11).

Reader doesn't like rezoning trend

Editor:

I am writing this letter as I am concerned about a terrible trend starting in Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships.

The trend is to buy lower priced, residential type properties and then have them re-zoned for commercial use. Two present examples now facing our council are: the log building just recently built near Jug City. Here the owner has purchased the property zoned Rural and has built his building and now is asking for re-zoning to Commercial. The second example is made by Ray Moore. He and his wife have purchased land zoned Rural and Residential, first density and now want part of it zoned Commercial.

I am wondering why, we the rate-payers of Anson, Hindon and Minden, have spent our good money on an Official Plan setting out designated spots for specific types of building when we don't follow it. Why would anyone go to the expense of buying higher priced Commercially zoned property when they could go buy residentially zoned property and have it re-zoned? It seems to be a great buy on the builder's part, but at whose expense? Why, the future of Minden, of course.

Mrs. Sandra Cole,
Minden.

Curb modifications will improve parking

Similarly, at the other end of the street, the sidewalk in front of CHACE Place will be widened. This, along with the installation of a sidewalk above the town dock, will ease the difficult traffic situation at that corner.

Stevens said these changes will enable motorists entering onto Main Street from South Water Street to pull out further into the intersection. He said this will give them a better view of traffic coming from either direction on Main Street.

The intersection as it now stands is difficult for both motorists and pedestrians. Motorists are forced to pull out into the intersection to see oncoming traffic, which makes it dangerous for pedestrians trying to cross either of the streets.

Proper walkways will be put in place here, enabling pedestrians to safely cross the streets. All crosswalks will be equipped with ramps to allow wheelchair access.

The installation of the sidewalk on the river side of South Water Street will also prevent cars from parking in that area. Although parking is presently allowed in that area, Stevens said it isn't a good idea, considering the the traffic situation at that corner and all the pedestrians coming from the boat docks and swimming area.

Below the sidewalk will be more docking and swimming facilities.

Maintaining the swimming facilities here was one of the few changes made to the plans, which initially called only for boat docking below the bridge. Stevens said this is one of the very few places close to town where swimming is convenient. Business owners agreed and the plans were changed.

Another highlight of this project will be improvements to the viewing area adjacent to The Something Shop. The retaining wall in that area will be repaired and the unstable handrail will be replaced. Planters and benches will also be installed here to provide shoppers with a scenic resting place.

"This is an ideal place to sit down and collect your thoughts," said Stevens.

People can enjoy the river and the activities on Main Street."

Park benches will be installed at various locations on the street. Some will be placed in front of the alleyways that are not to be used to gain access to the backstreets. The study recommends blocking up the "non-access" alley with either fences, planters or benches. Lewis said he hopes to see benches and planters installed at these locations. The non-access alleys include the ones on either side of the K&A Restaurant. Lewis said these are too narrow for good alleyways. He also noted there is little demand for access to Peck Street. The entrance between Bowes and Cox and the Dominion Hotel is to remain open for limited access for commercial use.

The main pedestrian access, then, to Peck Street will be through the parkette beside the bank. Except for the installation of planters and benches, the parkette will see few changes.

On the other side of the street, the two main alleyways leading to the municipal parking lot will remain open. They are to be cleaned up and signs are to be installed directing pedestrians to the back-street parking. These alleys located beside Coneybeare's Butcher Shop and beside Highland Jewelers.

The upgrading of the downtown core will also include replacing all the street lights. The light standards have already been chosen and will come complete with extra plugs for decorative lighting.

Although Stevens is hoping that all the work can be done this fall, he says some of it may have to be put on hold until the spring. He said he hopes to at least have the street lights in place before winter.

One of the many improvements made to Minden's downtown core as part of this fall's work, will be the altering of curbs to prevent parking on dangerous corners like this one across from the Rockcliffe Hotel.

Cult caught at commune

The search for the leader of a Burnt River commune and several of his followers ended where it began more than 10 weeks ago.

Roch, 'Moses' Theriault, 42, leader of the so-called Ant Hill Kids commune near Burnt River, was arrested Friday afternoon along with two female members of the commune. The arrest followed the capture of another commune member Jacques Giguere, 36, Thursday afternoon.

Arrested with Theriault were two female members of the commune, Nicole Ruel, 32, and Chantalle Lavrie, 31. Found with the trio were two male infants less than six months of age.

The commune leader and members were sought by police after another member of the commune lodged a complaint with the authorities after her arm was amputated at the group's Burnt River farm.

Gabriel Lavolie, 36, had apparently sustained an injury to the arm, which became infected. Rather than seek outside assistance, the commune members completed the amputation themselves.

Theriault has been charged with criminal negligence causing bodily harm, while Giguere was arrested for aggravated assault, as well as criminal negligence causing bodily harm. The two women have been charged with aggravated assault. Cobocok OPP say other charges are pending.

All those arrested were found near the commune from which they had fled shortly after Lavolie had complained to the authorities. A massive search of the area at the time failed to discover the wanted individuals and police issued Canada-wide warrants for their arrest.

Those arrested are being held in Lindsay jail and will appear today (Tuesday) in provincial court. The babies, reported to be in good condition, are being cared for by the Children's Aid Society.

Opening of season delayed

The opening of the skating season at the Minden Arena was delayed a week following the discovery of a broken brine line last week. The ice was scheduled to be ready for skaters October 2.

However, after arena staff started the ice making equipment September 22, the gauges indicated a loss of brine, the liquid which circulates through a network of pipes under the cement floor. A pressure test of the system confirmed the leak.

A small portion of the arena floor in the corner, to the left of the scoreboard, had to be broken away to uncover the leak, which was repaired and the system refilled.

Following a series of tests, the system was pronounced back in working order and ice making began last Friday afternoon. The first blade is scheduled to cut the ice this evening (October 10) and another season of winter activities at the arena will be underway.

Artists suprised by tour

by Betty Dionne

Artists of the Haliburton County Studio Tour were once again surprised to see a Cardinal Bus tour arrive from Hart Lodge as they were starting morning coffee.

Cardinal Tours is owned and operated by Harry and Thelma Farr of Dunnville. Due to the busy tour schedule Harry and Thelma have had little to spend at their cottage on Twelve Mile Lake which they have enjoyed for many years. They are both so familiar with our county they have become outstanding ambassadors in promoting tourism to the beautiful Highlands. After visiting the many artists in 1988 the bus was immediately booked for the 1989 tour.

All the artists on the tour have a very warm welcome for their guests and not only spend the necessary time answering the many questions about their craft but also explain the history about their particular locations. This warmth and friendliness offered by the artists can only mean repeat business.

The 1989 tour with selected additions proved to be more exciting and interesting. Anyone who has not covered this tour should make every effort to do so for the 1990 tour. Remember the studio's are open Sunday as well as Saturday and there is an abundance of talent in all phases of crafts awaiting you.

To everyone involved with the studio tour, especially the artists, the Minden Museum, Rails' End Gallery and the media are all to be commended for an undertaking that has proved to be so successful and a job well done.

Kinsmen support Ride

Editor:

The Kinsmen Club of Minden would like to convey their support for the continuation of "Ride for Sight" in Minden.

In previous "RIDES" the Kinsmen Club has had the pleasure of operating a Casino, Bar, Food Concession, etc. and in the operation of these projects have found the riders to be most co-operative and pleasant to deal with.

Insofar as our organization was not involved in last year's "RIDE" nor have immediate plans to be in future rides, our comments do not come from a desire to benefit our own Club financially.

The problems arising from this large number of people are minor compared with the financial 'shot in the arm' for our local business people during this weekend in early June after a slow season.

The bottom line on all of this is approximately half a million dollars raised for R.P. Eye Research and as a service organization we have to applaud these riders' efforts. The Community of Minden should be more than proud to be their hosts.

And to all the residents of Haliburton County who lent us their support. It was very much appreciated.

From all reports this year's tour was a success, so look for it again next year.

Drums believed to have been floating docks pletely rusted through," and said that "upon touching one barrel, a yellow substance seeped out."

Included with the letter was a photocopy of a label that Lumley had retrieved from amongst the barrels. The label was for a product known as Dequest, a phosphorous acid used in water treatment produced by the Monsanto Company in St. Louis, Missouri.

When contacted last Monday, company spokesman Don Montgomery said Monsanto was not aware that some of its drums were in a lake in central Ontario. When provided with the lot number from the copy of the label Lumley had found, Montgomery said he would try and trace the chemical, find out who had purchased the drum, and how it had ended up at the bottom of Little Hawk Lake.

On Wednesday The Times spoke with a representative of Monsanto's Toronto office, Ray Mowling. Mowling said the company had been in contact with the Ministry of the Environment's regional office in Gravenhurst and were still attempting to trace the chemical's movements. He said because Monsanto's label was discovered with the drums, "we are just as concerned as everyone else." But Mowling could offer no logical explanation for the drums being in Little Hawk Lake.

In a telephone interview, Lumley said the barrels were discovered in about 30 feet of water in front of the government dock on the lake. He said it appeared as if the barrels were full when they sank because the metal tops and plugs were firmly in place.

Several of the drums had labels marked 'corrosive', said Lumley and one was marked 'safe, non-toxic oil.'

The Monsanto label he kept did not actually come off one of the barrels, said Lumley, but was lying on the bottom near the location so he assumed it had come off one of the drums on the bottom.

Lumley said the large private dock owned by the Little Hawk Resort used similar barrels for flotation. But swimming under the bottom of the dock he said he could only see about a dozen places where drums appeared to be missing. And because he estimated the number of drums on the lake's bottom to be at least 60, and possibly as high as 100, he said that was "way more than would be used in a dock."

Also, because some of the drums in the lake appeared to be brand new it didn't seem likely that they had come from the underside of the dock.

On Thursday Monsanto spokesman John Dickey said the company had been in contact with Minister of the Environment Jim Bradley's office and had also managed to trace the shipment of the chemicals to the wholesalers who sold them.

Dickey said the chemical, Dequest, posed very little threat to the lake environment because it would be highly diluted. He also said that the Environmental Protection Act (EPA) has allowable safe standards for the amount of Dequest that can be present in drinking water without posing a threat to health.

Thursday morning the environment ministry sent a team, including scuba divers, to investigate the drums. The divers examined the drums and videotaped the scene.

Monsanto representative Duncan MacIntyre was also present at the site and said none of the drums on the lake bottom had come from his company. Monsanto ships Dequest in blue plastic containers and according to the Ministry divers, all the the drums on the lake bottom are steel.

MacIntyre pointed out that Monsanto's drums are used for flotation in the resort's dock and most probably the label from one of those drums peeled off and sank to the bottom near the steel barrels on the bottom.

Brian Howden, the Ministry employee in charge of the investigation, says the divers confirmed that there are at least 60 drums at the bottom of the lake and his office is now attempting to determine where they came from.

Howden says they have not concluded that all the drums came from the underside of the dock, but that at least some of them were used for flotation because the brackets used to bind them to the dock are still attached to the drums.

Divers found no evidence of the "yellow substance" that Lumley said leaked from one of the drums. Howden says the lake bottom is very silty, and the divers may have stirred up the silt when they disturbed the drums.

The investigation is continuing, and Howden says it will take some time to reach a decision regarding what should be done with the drums.

New tax will cost Harcourt resident an extra $1,100

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The federal government's proposed Goods and Services Tax is going to cost Bill Manhire an additional $1,100 a year and he thinks the new tax will affect most people more than the government is willing to admit.

The Harcourt resident became concerned about the tax about a month ago and decided to try and educate himself on its effects.

He wrote to the Department of Revenue to obtain copies of the technical papers explaining the new tax and realized that it represents a "nightmare" accounting problem for small business and will take money out of the pockets of lower income people.

The nine per cent tax, being introduced as part of Finance Minister Michael Wilson's tax reform, will be charged on a wide variety of goods and services and is designed to replace the old manufacturers tax which is hidden in the cost of products.

Critics of the tax plan say it will cause an increase in the rate of inflation, and will cost consumers billions of additional dollars each year.

Bill Manhire is urging people to write and complain about the government's new GST

In order to understand how the tax will affect him personally, Manhire went back and recalculated his 1988 expenses and tax return applying the nine per cent tax where applicable.

His professional background in finance and budget planning has taught him to keep accurate financial records and he went through his old cheque books and credit card receipts to see how the tax would have affected him, had it been in place in 1988.

In making his calculations, Manhire took into account the inflationary effect the tax will have on the economy. the government says the tax will only cause inflation to increase by 2.25 per cent but economists who have studied the tax predict the increase will probably be three per cent or higher.

Manhire split the difference and used an increased rate of inflation of 2.5 per cent. He found that the tax will result in him paying 29 per cent more taxes each year and will reduce the amount of his disposable income, after expenses and taxes, by more than 50 per cent.

He consulted the government's telephone information hot-line on the tax to ensure that he was using the correct figures and tax rebates.

He said the income tax rebate the government is offering to offset the effects of the tax on lower income households is not enough to cover the additional amount being paid out.

To follow up his research, Manhire sent the details of his calculations, and the concerns they raise, to Victoria-Haliburton's federal MP Bill Scott. He has also written to the two local papers explaining his findings and urging people to "write their MP right now and protest loudly, or pay thousands of dollars for their silence in coming years."

During the course of study-

The Move Is On

Look! It's the great Pumpkin

It was a bigger and better year for Floyd Winger's pumpkin crop again this year. The man who has captured 'biggest pumpkin' contests over the past couple of years, topped his best effort by almost 100 pounds this year. This heavy-weight topped the scales at 263 pounds, dwarfing his 1987 entry, which weighed in at 167 pounds. Floyd entered the pumpkin in the Markham Fair competition and captured first prize. However, he points out that things are pretty competitive in the pumpkin growing division, and he only edged out the second place finisher by a three pound margin. The giant pumpkins, which Floyd grows in a special patch near Fairfield Bay on Mountain Lake, are from seed from another prize winner, a 400 pound pumpkin nurtured in Nova Scotia a number of years ago. The seeds cost him $5 for six. Floyd isn't too sure what he will do with the large pumpkin, although he is sure there are more than a few pies in this monster. However, when the giant does finally meet its end, he hopes to get other gardeners to think big next spring. He is offering free seeds to anyone interested in propagating a prodigious pumpkin.

Literacy program expanding to Haliburton

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The John Howard Society is expanding its literacy outreach program into Haliburton County.

The expansion is possible through a increase in the Society's grant from the Ministry of Skills Development, providing money to initiate the program in Haliburton.

Cathy Neill Kennan, a director of the Victoria-Haliburton John Howard Society's Literacy Outreach program in Lindsay, says the society has been applying for the necessary funding since 1987, and this year received an increase of $15,000 to their grant.

The money will pay for one literacy program co-ordinator to spend one day a week in Haliburton Village.

The literacy outreach program trains volunteers to help teach people to improve their reading skills. The co-ordinator's job is to help match tutors to learners and keep track of their progress.

Neill Kennan says one of the advantages of expanding the program into Haliburton is that there can be an exchange of resource materials with the Lindsay office.

Literacy programs are not new to the Haliburton area, but this is the first time it will be supported by government funding.

An ad hoc program has been organized and run by Jane Selbie of the Haliburton County Employment Centre. Selbie says she began the literacy outreach when she received a request from a lady who had been involved in similar efforts in southern Ontario and wanted to transfer to the Haliburton program.

Selbie began to investigate what it would take to initiate a literacy program in Haliburton, and that's when she discovered the John Howard Society had made applications for grants to expand their efforts.

Selbie began a program for Haliburton without a budget by borrowing resources and trainers from Peterborough and Lindsay. She describes it as being very much a "volunteer and grass roots" effort.

Even though the government funding is to initiate a program in Haliburton, Selbie says that because there was already a program in place the John Howard Society will be able to "take what's already blossomed and expand on it."

"It's been exciting how the community responded," says Selbie. "It's not that hard to get people interested." She says the program has flourished even though there has been no funds for advertisement.

travel or public information meetings.

The program is designed to deal with reading difficulties of all varieties. Neill Kennan says the Society has helped one person who came in not knowing the alphabet, and another person who could read fairly well but wanted to improve their spelling skills. "Everyone else falls somewhere in between," she says.

Neill Kennan says that although the program in Haliburton has been "low key" so far, it will probably experience an increase in demand once advertising begins.

Selbie says the Haliburton program has helped about 14 people so far.

The literacy outreach coordinator's office will be located in the Haliburton County Employment Centre, and Selbie says she will act as a community liaison person for the program.

Canada becomes a leader in space technology

by Bill Scott, M.P.

Canada is about to become a leader in space technology.

On September 13, 1989, Industry, Science and Technology Minister Harvie Andre signed Memoranda of Understanding with nine provincial partners on participation in the Canadian-led international RADARSAT earth observation satellite project.

This represents a major investment in Canada's high technology expertise. RADARSAT is a ground-breaking enterprise and one of the largest-ever federal-provincial technical projects. Indeed, it is expected to create over 10,000 person-years of employment across the country and result in economic benefits worth in the neighbourhood of $1 billion.

Andre said the Canadian government has committed $330 million to the project. According to the terms of one of the signed agreements, the provinces of Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan and British Columbia will contribute an additional $52.9 million towards industrial work performed by companies in those provinces. A second agreement signed by Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Manitoba and Alberta commits those provinces to pre-pay for RADARSAT data in return for participation in planning the distribution of RADARSAT data nationally.

When RADARSAT is launched in 1994, it will be one of the world's most advanced surveillance satellites to use Earth scanning. From almost 480 miles above the earth, the RAD-ARSAT satellite will circle the globe from pole to pole, scanning the entire surface with radar in swaths up to 300 miles wide. RADARSAT will complete one orbit every 100 minutes. The result will be high-resolution images of land and ocean features, which will provide valuable economic and scientific information on ice conditions, crops, forests and geological formations.

Because of its unique radar technology, RADARSAT will be able to peer through the frequently cloudy coastal regions of Atlantic and Pacific Canada. In addition, information about the continuously cloud-bound tropic will help manage crucial rainforest resources.

Other RADARSAT applications include monitoring natural and man-made disasters such as earthquakes and oil spills, gathering information useful to environmentalists, and following the movement of Arctic ice.

RADARSAT is a project tailor-made for Canada. We are world leaders in the important areas of radar systems, ground receiving stations and imaging, so the project will provide us with the opportunity to further sharpen our skills, skills for which there is a healthy and growing global market.

Jim and John McKelvey attended the Twins' festival in Twinsburg Ohio.

McKelvey twins attend festival

Jim and John McKelvey of Minden attended the 1989, 14th Annual Twins Day Festival in Twinsburg, Ohio on Saturday, August 5 and Sunday, August 6. This event, held annually in the only city in the world named to honour twins, hosted 2356 sets of twins (including triplets, quadruplets, and quintuplets) from across the United States and around the world. This year's event was the largest known gathering of twins in the world and is listed in the "Guinness Book of World Records" as such.

Twinsburg (located between Cleveland and Akron on S.R. 91) was named in honour of Moses and Aaron Wilcox, early settlers (and, of course, twins) from Kellingworth, Connecticut. The town's name was changed from Millsville to Twinsburg in 1817 at the request of the twins. In exchange for this honour, they donated 6 acres of land that became the town square and $20 toward starting the first school.

The Wilcox twins were so identical, only their oldest friends could tell them apart. They married sisters; held all their property in common; were stricken with the same ailment; died on the same day; and are buried in the same grave in the Twinsburg Locust Grove Cemetery.

The Twins Day Festival features numerous Twins Contests. The McKelveys competed in the most alike and farthest away, outside U.S.A. categories. The Festival also included a parade, games, food, craft booths, two full days of live entertainment (musicians, singers, dancers, fireworks, balloon launches, and much, much more).

Next year's festival is already being planned and will be held Saturday and Sunday, August 4 and 5, 1990.

Season ends

by Cy Heal

The final games of the 1989 summer season of lawn bowling were played the last week of September. James Grant and Nancy Moore then made arrangements for the play-offs. Semi-final games were played October 3 and 4. When the finals were played on October 5, Norman Shivas, Bruce Armstrong and Marion Reid won the trebles series with May Sinclair, Dalton Flatt and Iren Fuhr being the runner-up team.

The Quads Series was won by Herbert Gill's team. Due to his absence, the team was skipped by Russell King, James Burton, Doris McIsaac and Ruth Flatt were the other team members.

May Sinclair, Social Convenor, did a super job of decorating and arranging for the closing dinner which was held at the Club House following the play-offs.

Thanks to President Ross Farr and his executive for a great 10th season.

Police want tougher seatbelt laws

During the month of October, 11 Police Forces in the province have been requested by the Solicitor General to increase their level of seat belt legislation enforcement and public awareness initiatives.

In OPP District 8, comprising the counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Haliburton, all 10 detachments are committed to supporting this initiative.

Motorist can also expect the District RIDE team to enforce seatbelt laws, in addition to their drinking and driving enforcement efforts. During October, OPP detachments and the RIDE team will work with area Police forces in joining seatbelt enforcement efforts.

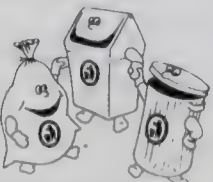

The non-use of seatbelts has already been identified as a significant factor contributing to traffic fatalities in the district. To date, 41 people have died in 38 fatal traffic accidents this year. Thirty-two of the victims had seatbelts available to them. Nineteen people chose not to wear them. Fifteen people were thrown out of their cars. In many of these cases, the use of seatbelts would have prevented a needless death.

In addition to enforcement efforts to reduce these tragic statistics, police recognize the need for public education to increase seatbelt usage. Media campaigns and school programs are two of the initiatives planned in this district. Seatbelt education is an ongoing program. Deaths and serious injuries will be reduced if tomorrow's drivers are reached today.

Library's have information

by Joel Levis

When many people think about their public library, they often think about films and story books, magazines and so many other things.

In other words, they see the public library as a recreational aid rather than any other part of their life.

But there is one area that should be considered when the public library is thought of: Information.

This is the age of information wealth. If you don't have information, then you are information poor and that is simply a sad state to be in. Especially since your County Library is able to provide you with so much help.

The the Canadian Almanac and Directory: this annual volume lists an almost endless source of addresses and telephone numbers for newspapers, magazines, research organizations and listings of lawyers, postal codes and other information resources. Then there is the Canadian Government Programmes and Services which is updated on a near-weekly basis and provides with the most current information on federal government services with address and telephone numbers for all your own purposes.

Then there is the Canadian Periodical Index, an index to Canadian magazines published since 1977, all available by electronic access and just waiting to assist you in your daily work, your hobbies, school work, your everyday life. We even have access to the Globe and Mail in electronic terms as far back as 1977 and as recent as this morning's edition.

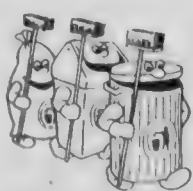

Want to travel? We have current road maps from all over North America. Need a telephone number? We have listings for major Ontario centres. Want to see a quotation from the federal government? A copy of the Free Trade Act? Canada Gazette or Ontario Gazette? Got it. Census information? Name the year!

In short, we have a wealth of information available for you from the Haliburton County Public Library. All you have to do is ask.

South Lake Association

by Ken Brown

Removing screens and replacing storm windows is fair hint that summer is on the wane. However, when flowers are touched with frost and you have to pull out plants that have been weeded and nurtured for months, winter is not too far away. Summer residents on South Lake will store away the boat and deck-chairs along with very pleasant memories of another season on our attractive lake.

Contributing in a meaningful way to the quality of life on the lake is the South Lake Association of Cottagers and Residents. Whether acting on behalf of those who take a two week break with the kids from the city life or long weekenders from June through September, or for that matter our year round residents, the SLACAR commitment to preserve and improve our shared piece of Haliburton County is firm and vibrant.

Our capable Association president Bob Martin opened the Fall Executive Board Meeting with a review of the past summer activities and outlines projects for 1990.

Bob listed a successful July Annual Meeting, a picnic and a corn roast in August with a 'pitch in' campaign, a lake identification project, a membership drive, and through it all, Bill Kelly testing and recording water quality each week for the Department of Natural Resources. Add in our support of F.O.C.A. and sessions at the Frost Institute on Environment coupled with Ray Lymer's year round monitoring of Snowdon Township Council meetings to round out the picture. Surely, a description of an activist Executive Board; an involved membership with a balanced programme of social and civic events. Plans for 1990 as reported by each committee chairperson are well advanced and promise an equally interesting year with some new activities projected. No wonder our membership chairperson, the dynamic Phyllis DeGrace, reported 90% of South Lake property owners are paid up members of SLACAR.

Gone are the days when everyone closed up their drafty cottage at the first cold snap and fled to the comfort of a centrally heated home in the city. The number of year round residents on the lake has increased and quite a few cottagers have insulated and heated their place so as to enjoy the healthy experience of a bracing Haliburton winter. Minden townfolk will undoubtedly spot South Lakers all through the winter sporting the SLACAR emblem on hats and sweatshirts. Many of the neighbours will soon head south with the loons but Joan and Bruce Downs will prepare a March/90 newsletter and mail it to all members so as to keep everyone posted on South Lake happenings.

Lake Associations are now a way of life in the County and can be expected to make their presence felt in a constructive manner throughout the entire year.

R. #2, Minden, was north bound on Hwy 35, entering an intersection, when a vehicle operated by Wilbert Pash of England, which was south bound on Hwy 35, turned left in front of Chambers. The three occupants of the two vehicles were taken to the hospital by ambulance. Pash charged with an Improper left turn.

Four persons were injured in a collision on Scotch Line Rd east of Highway 35 on Saturday, September 30. The vehicles operated by David Vavra of Uxbridge and Shane Clark of Minden collided at the crest of a hill injuring all occupants of the Clark vehicle who were taken to Minden Hospital.

Sentenced

A series of narcotic charged has drawn a four year jail sentence for a Haliburton man.

Terry Curtis Grant, 26, pleaded guilty in court September 20 to two charges of trafficking in a narcotic, a charge of possession of a narcotic and breach of probation.

Enjoy the Very Best and Save your Money on a 3-year Free Ride

The Hyundai 3-Year Free Ride is not a warranty. It is a free maintenance program over and above the regular Hyundai warranty.

Now when you buy a new '89 Hyundai Sanata or Excel you kiss regular maintenance bills goodbye.

For 3 years of 60,000 kilometres, Hyundai pays for regular scheduled maintenance - parts and labour - so you can look forward to worry-free motoring.

Practically all you have to think about for the next 3 years is buying gas. And that beats one-shot rebates or reduced finance charges.

New tax hits low income earners hardest

ing the tax, Manhire discovered some other government measures which will end up costing the tax payers additional money. When introducing the first phase of his tax reform, Wilson put a three per cent surcharge in place. But in 1991, when the second phase, including the goods and services tax, is due to be introduced, that surcharge is going to be increased to five per cent instead of being eliminated.

The government has also said that the income tax rebate to lower income households will be indexed against inflation. But the index only applies to inflation greater than three per cent. If inflation is five per cent only two per cent of the rebate will be indexed against inflation.

Manhire says that what this means is that the government has, over the long term, eliminated any benefit the rebate may have.

Besides the impact the tax will have on consumers, Manhire says it will create a "nightmare accounting problem" for small business, which make up the majority of Haliburton County's retail operations.

Store keepers will have to define what the old manufacturer's tax is on every item they sell and apply for a credit for that amount before calculating the new nine per cent tax.

And the tax will also have an effect on those services that are supposed to be exempt.

As an example Manhire uses an optician. Although the services offered by the optician will not be taxed, his personal expenses will be. In order to recover the additional money he's spending to pay the new tax, the optician will have to raise the amount he charges for his services. "This is where the three per cent inflation is going to come from," says Manhire.

He is convinced the new tax will have a real day-to-day impact on tax payers in general and will hit the lower income earners the hardest.

BUY THEM WHERE YOU RIDE THEM!

There are a lot of good reasons to buy your snowmobile from a Haliburton Highlands Snowmobile Dealer, especially if you ride the local trails.

1. Local dealers know the area - they know the machine best suited to your requirements and the terrain in which you'll be riding.
2. Nothing can be more frustrating than a wasted weekend because of service requirements. Local dealers make a special effort to ensure their customers get maximum trail time. And, when your sled needs regular service, what could be more convenient than to leave it one weekend and pick it up the next — ready to go.
3. Local dealers support the local snowmobile trail clubs. They are keenly interested in ensuring you have the best possible trails and take an active part in representing all rider interests at the club level.
4. Local dealers can be an excellent source of information to make your snowmobiling outing even more fun. They can advise you what's on, how to get there, great places to visit, eat, relax and enjoy. In many ways, they are your key to an enjoyable time on your sled in the Highlands.

Seniors celebrated September birthdays

Here I am again. Thursday the Kinmount Legion Auxiliary Ladies provided a lovely lunch and a beautiful birthday cake for the ten residents who had birthdays in September. We had the ten of them at a table in the centre of the auditorium, tastefully arranged with the cake and flowers. The eight ladies and two men were all present including the two ladies who were one hundred years old in September. After lunch we had a sing-song with Doris playing the piano.

In the evening we had bingo with Roger Yearwood calling for us. It was his first time to call and he did

Saturday, Tryphina Jenkins had a birthday party downstairs in the residents area with several of her family present to celebrate her 99th birthday which is Tuesday, October 3, 1989.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stewart of Cameron visited Verna Jarvis on Sunday. They are going to Vancouver, B.C. for a month's vacation.

Sunday night Rev. John Burgess conducted the Chapel service and we were very pleased to have Heather Bowron play the music on her guitar as well as sing with us. Heather also sang two beautiful hymns. Thanks Heather for spending what little time you have home helping us

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

Three generations at Elstone opening

Three generations were represented Thursday evening as Elstone Motor Sales opened their new showroom and service facility in Haliburton. On hand to witness the ribbon cutting by Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey were Clifford Elstone, his son Merv and grandson Dave.

Elstone Motors had been located on Haliburton's Highland Street, downtown since 1955 when Clifford opened the business. Since then it has grown within the community. The opening of the new showroom on Highway 118 just north of Haliburton was the latest step in that growth.

A large crowd of well-wishers was on hand to help mark the occasion. The new building features an eight bay service area at the rear, large bright showroom along the front and smart comfortable sales and customer service areas. The front yard provides ample area for new and used car displays.

The building is 8000 square feet, compared to the 3000 square foot facility on the community's main street. The company has ten employees.

In addition to the many friends, relatives, members of the business community and neighbours who turned out for the opening, Brent Holmberg of Chrysler Credit in Sudbury and Elan Laundry of Chrysler Canada in Toronto attended the opening. Laundry brought a special presentation for the Haliburton dealership.

with a plaque marking the company's 25 years as a Chrysler dealer. (Prior to 1964, the company sold Chrysler products, but was not a full dealership.)

Following the ceremonial ribbon cutting, the crowd enjoyed refreshments and was given an opportunity to tour the new facilities.

New fee structure for licence

by Doreen Hawman

Old Age Security pension rises from $330.43 to $337.04 per month. (This was omitted from last week's column.)

Effective August 1, the Ministry of Transportation changed the fee structure for specific driver and vehicle licensing.

This means anyone whose driver's licence and/or vehicle plate validation sticker expired on or after that date is subject to the new fee.

The cost of a driver's licence renewal for three years increased to $30 from $21. Passenger plate validation stickers in southern Ontario increased to $66 from $54 and in northern Ontario to $18 from $15. For a motor-assisted bicycle validation sticker increased to $12 from $9.

The Plate validation sticker fee for commercial motor vehicles weighing 3,000 kilograms or less, for personal use only, increased to $66 from $54 in southern Ontario. In northern Ontario, to $33 from $27.

The fee for an original driver's licence and for a replacement driver's licence increased to $10 from $7.

If you have a question that needs answering or require help completing an application you are invited to contact your nearest Information Centre. For the convenience of residents of the Minden area, the centre located in the Municipal Building, Milne Street is now open Monday and Tuesday of each week.

Preserve lovely community

It is not a 'we against them' scenario because many cottagers after years as summer residents have selected Haliburton County to locate a home and make a new life here on a full time basis.

These new 'locals' share with long time residents a desire to preserve the best in our lovely community.

The agenda of SLACAR reflects membership respect for the beauty and special qualities of Haliburton County. President Bob Martin includes all of our good friends in Minden when he proclaims that "together we can make a difference."

Have a warm and safe winter.

Lyle ably took my place at the council.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Marion showed us three films. One on "Animal Australia", second on "High Wide West", and third "Island of Hawaii". They were very good and the attendance was better with 13 present. Thank you both very much.

Mable Buttery had her sister Ruth Kellett to visit her this week.

Tuesday we had fun and fitness in the morning then Doris and Linda and Donna took a bus load of residents to see the colored leaves. We drove down around Halls Lake, into Hawk Lake and home via highway 35. The trees are really beautiful this fall.

Wednesday morning instead of fun and fitness we had a bus ride up the Bob-caygeon Road, Vankoughnet Road, Carnarvon and home on 35. Everyone enjoyed both trips very much.

Tuesday night Everett Fairey and Terri Lynn provided us with singing and guitar music. We appreciate having them very much.

Wednesday night Pastor Murray from Allsaw Pentecostal Church held a service in the main lounge, enjoyed by the residents.
